This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world’s books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that’s often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book’s long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google’s system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google “watermark” you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can’t offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book’s appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

HAMLET,

BY

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.

LONDON.
PRINTED FOR N. L. (NICHOLAS LING)
AND JOHN TRUNDELL
1603.

REPRINTED AT THE SHAKESPEARE PRESS,
BY WILLIAM NICOL,
FOR PAYNE AND FOSS, PALL-MALL.
The present Edition of Hamlet is an accurate reprint from the only known copy of this Tragedy as originally written by Shakespeare, which he afterwards altered and enlarged. It is given to the world under the impression of rendering an acceptable service to literature. Some variations in the plot, as compared with the received Text, will be perceived; but its chief value consists in bringing to light several lines of great beauty subsequently omitted, and in many new readings of passages which have been the subject of much controversy among the critics. The typographical errors and even negligent omissions in the Text are common to all the Editions published during the life time of Shakespeare, who, it is believed, never superintended the publication of any of his works, excepting the Poems of Venus and Adonis, and Tarquin and Lucrece.

The last leaf is wanting; but as the Play is perfect to the death of Hamlet, the loss is of comparatively small importance.

Tragicall Historie of

H A M L E T

Prince of Denmarke

By William Shake-speare.

As it hath beene diverse times acted by his Highnesse ser-uants in the Cittie of London: as also in the two Vniuersities of Cambridge and Oxford, and else-where

At London printed for N. L. and John Trundell, 1603.
Enter two Centinels.

1. Stand: who is that?
2. 'Tis I.
1. O you come most carefully upon your watch,
2. And if you meete Marcellus and Horatio,
The partners of my watch, bid them make haste.
1. I will: See who goes there.

Enter Horatio and Marcellus.

Hor. Friends to this ground.
Mar. And leegemen to the Dane,
O farewell honest soouldier, who hath releueed you?
1. Barnardo hath my place, glue you good night.
Mar. Holla, Barnardo.
2. Say, is Horatio there?
Hor. A peece of him.
2. Welcome Horatio, welcome good Marcellus.
Mar. What hath this thing appear'd againe to night.
2. I haue seene nothing.
Mar. Horatio sayes tis but our fantasie,
And wil not let beliefe take hold of him,
Touching this dreaded sight twice seene by vs,
The Tragedie of Hamlet

Therefore I haue intreated him along with vs
To watch the minutes of this night,
That if againe this apparition come,
He may approoue our eyes, and speake to it.

_Hor._ Tut, t'will not appeare.

2. Sit downe I pray, and let vs once againe
Assaile your eares that are so fortified,
What we haue two nights scene.

_Hor._ Wel, sit we downe, and let ys heare _Bernardo_ speake of this.

2. Last night of al, when yonder starre that's westward from the pole, had made his course to Illumine that part of heauen. Where now it burnes,
The bell then towling one.

_Enter Ghost.

_Mar._ Breake off your talke, see where it comes againe.

2. In the same figure like the King that's dead,

_Mar._ Thou art a scholler, speake to it _Horatio_.

2. Lookes it not like the king?

_Hor._ Most like, it horrors mee with feare and wonder.

2. It would be spoke to.

_Mar._ Question it _Horatio_.

_Hor._ What art thou that thus vsurps the state, in Which the Maiestie of buried _Denmarke_ did sometimes Walke? By heauen I charge thee speake.

_Mar._ It is offended. _exit Ghost._

2. See, it stalkes away.

_Hor._ Stay, speake, speake, by heauen I charge thee speake.

_Mar._ Tis gone and makes no answer.

2. How now _Horatio_, you tremble and looke pale,
Is not this something more than fantasie?
What thinke you on't?

_Hor._ Afore my God, I might not this beleue, without the sensible and true auouch of my owne eyes.

_Mar._
Prince of Denmarke.

Mar. Is it not like the King?
Hor. As thou art to thy selfe,
Such was the very armor he had on,
When he the ambitious Norway combated.
So frownd he once, when in an angry parle
He smot the sleaded pollax on the yce,
Tis strange.

Mar. Thus twice before, and iump at this dead hower,
With Marshall stalke he passed through our watch.
Hor. In what particular to worke, I know not,
But in the thought and scope of my opinion,
This bodes some strange eruption to the state.
Mar. Good, now sit downe, and tell me he that knowes
Why this same strikt and most obseruant watch,
So nightly toyles the subject of the land,
And why such dayly cost of brazen Cannon
And forainne marte, for implements of warre,
Why such impresse of ship-writes, whose sore taske
Does not divide the sunday from the weeke:
What might be toward that this sweaty march
Doth make the night ioynt labourer with the day,
Who is't that can informe me?

Hor. Mary that can I, at least the whisper goes so,
Our late King, who as you know was by Forten-
Brasse of Norway,
Thereto prickt on by a most emulous cause, dared to
The combate, in which our valiant Hamlet,
For so this side of our knowne world esteemed him,
Did slay this Fortenbrasse,
Who by a scale compact well ratified, by law
And heraldrie, did forfeit with his life all those
His lands which he stooed seazed of by the conqueror,
Against the which a moity competent,
Was gaged by our King:
Now sir, yong Fortenbrasse,
Of inapprov'd mettle hot and full,

B 2
Hath
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Hath in the skirts of Norway here and there,
Sharkt vp a sight of lawlesse Resolutes
For food and diet to some enterprise,
That hath a stomacke in't: and this (I take it) is the Chiefe head and ground of this our watch.

Enter the Ghost.

But loe, behold, see where it comes againe,
Ile crosse it, though it blast me: stay illusion,
If there be any good thing to be done,
That may doe ease to thee, and grace to mee,
Speake to mee.
If thou art priuy to thy countries fate,
Which happily foreknowing may preuent, O speake to me,
Or if thou hast extorted in thy life,
Or hoorded treasure in the wombe of earth,
For which they say you Spirites oft walke in death, speake
to me, stay and speake, speake, stoppe it Marcellus.

2. Tis heere.

Hor. Tis heere.

Marc. Tis gone, O we doe it wrong, being so maest-
call, to offer it the shew of violence,
For it is as the ayre invemorable,
And our vaine blowes malitious mockery.

2. It was about to speake when the Cocke crew.

Hor. And then it faded like a guilty thing,
Vpon a fearefull sumsmons: I haue heard
The Cocke, that is the trumpet to the morning,
Doth with his earely and shrill crowing throate,
Awake the god of day, and at his sound,
Whether in earth or ayre, in sea or fire,
The straungant and erring spirite hies
To his confines, and of the trueth heereof
This present obiect made probation.

Marc. It faded on the crowing of the Cocke,
Some say, that euer gainst that season comes,
Wherein our Sauiours birth is celebrated,
Prince of Denmark.
The bird of dawning singeth all night long,
And then they say, no spirite dare walke abroade,
The nights are wholesome, then no planet frikes,
No Fairie takes, nor Witch hath powre to charme,
So gratious, and so hallowed is that time.

Hor. So haue I heard, and doe in parte beleuse it:
But see the Sunne in russet mantle clad,
Walkes ore the deaw of yon hie mountaine top,
Breake we our watch vp, and by my aduise,
Let vs impart what wee haue seene to night
Vnto yong Hamlet: for vpon my life
This Spirite dumbe to vs will speake to him:
Do you consent, wee shall acquaint him with it,
As needefull in our loue, fitting our dutie?

Marc. Lets doo't I pray, and I this morning know,
Where we shall finde him most convenienly.

Enter King, Queene, Hamlet, Learies, Corambis, and the two Ambassadors, with Attendants.

King. Lordes, we here haue writ to Fortenbrasse,
Nepheu to olde Norway, who impudent
And bed-rid, scandally heares of this his Nephews purpose: and Wee heere dispatch
Yong good Cornelia, and you Voltemar
For bearers of these greetings to olde
Norway, giuing to you no further personall power
To businesse with the King,
Then those related articles do shew:
Farewell, and let your haste commend your dutie.

Gent. In this and all things will wee shew our dutie.

King. Wee doubt nothing, hartily farewel:
And now Learies what's the newes with you?
You said you had a sute what's Leartes?

Lea: My gratious Lord, your favorable licence,
Now that the funerall rites are all performed,
The Tragedie of Hamlet

I may have leave to go againe to France,
For though the favour of your grace might stay mee,
Yet something is there whispers in my hart,
Which makes my minde and spirits bend all for France.

King. Have you your fathers leave, Learst?
Cor. He hath, my lord, wrung from me a forced graunt,
And I beseech you grant your Highnesse leaue.

King. With all our heart, Learstes fare thee well.
Lear. I in all loue and dutie take my leaue.

King. And now proussely Sonne Hamlet, Exit.

What means these sad and melancholy moods?
For your intent going to Wittenberg,
Wee hold it most vnmeet and vnconuenient,
Being the Ioy and halfe heart of your mother.
Therefore let mee intreat you stay in Court,
All Denmarkes hope our coosin and dearest Sonne.

Ham. My lord, ts not the sable sute I weare:
No nor the teares that still stand in my eyes,
Nor the distracted hauior in the visage,
Nor all together mixt with outward semblance,
Is equall to the sorrow of my heart,
Him haue I lost I must of force forgoe,
These but the ornaments and sutes of woe.

King. This shewes a louing care in you, Sonne Hamlet,
But you must thinke your father lost a father,
That father dead, lost his, and so shalbe vntill the Generall ending. Therefore cease lamentes,
It is a fault gainst heauen, fault gainst the dead,
A fault gainst nature, and in reasons
Common course most certaine,
None lues on earth, but hee is borne to die.

Que. Let not thy mother loose her praiers Hamlet,
Stay here with vs, go not to Wittenberg.

Ham. I shall in all my best obay you madam.

King. Spoke like a kinde and a most louing Sonne,
And there's no health the King shall drinke to day,
Prince of Denmarke.

But the great Canon to the cloudes shall tell
The rowse the King shall drinke ynto Prince Hamlet.

Exit all but Hamlet.

Ham. O that this too much griev'd and sallied flesh
Would melt to nothing, or that the vniversall
Globe of heaven would turne al to a Chaos!
O God within two moneths; no not two: married,
Mine vnclle: O let me not thinke of it,
My fathers brother: but no more like
My father, then I to Hercules.
Within two months, ere yet the salt of most Vnrighteous teates had left their flushing
In her galled eyes: she married, O God, a beast
Denoyd of reason would not haue made
Such speede: Frailtie, thy name is Woman,
Why she would hang on him, as if increase
Of appetite had growne by what it looked on.
O wicked wicked speede, to make such Dexteritie to incestuous sheetes,
Ere yet the shooes were olde,
The which she followed my dead fathers corse
Like Nyobe, all teares: married, well it is not,
Nor it cannot come to good:
But breake my heart, for I must holde my tongue.

Enter Horatio and Marcellus.

Hor. Health to your Lordship.

Ham. I am very glad to see you, (Horatio) or I much forget my selfe.

Hor. The same my Lord, and your poore servuant ever.

Ham. O my good friend, I change that name with you:
but what make you from Wittenberg Horatio?

Marcellus.

Marc. My good Lord.

Ham. I am very glad to see you, good euem sirs;
But what is your affaire in Elsenowre?
Weele teach you to drinke depee ere you depart.

Hor.
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Hor. A trowant disposition, my good Lord.

Ham. Nor shall you make mee truster
Of your owne report against your selfe:
Sir, I know you are no trowant:
But what is your affaire in Elsenoure?

Hor. My good Lord, I came to see your fathers funerall.

Ham. O I pre thee do not mocke mee fellow studient,
I thinke it was to see my mothers wedding.

Hor. Indeede my Lord, it followed hard vpon.

Ham. Thrift, thrift, Horatio, the funerall bak't meates
Did coldly furnish forth the marriage tables,
Would I had met my dearest foe in heauen
Ere euer I had seene that day Horatio;
O my father, my father, me thinks I see my father,

Hor. Where my Lord?

Ham. Why, in my mindes eye Horatio.

Hor. I saw him once, he was a gallant King.

Ham. He was a man, take him for all in all,
I shall not looke vpon his like againe.

Hor. My Lord, I thinke I saw him yesternight,

Ham. Saw, who?

Hor. My Lord, the King your father.

Ham. Ha, ha, the King my father ke you.

Hor. Ceasen your admiration for a while
With an attentuie eare, till I may deliuer,
Vpon the witnesse of these Gentlemen
This wonder to you.

Ham. For Gods loue let me heare it.

Hor. Two nights together had these Gentlemen,
Marcellus and Bernardo, on their watch,
In the dead vast and middle of the night.
Beene thus encountered by a figure like your father,
Armed to poync, exactly Capapea
Appeares before them thrise, he walkes
Before their weake and feare oppressed eies.
Within his tronchions length,

While
Prince of Denmarke

While they distilled almost to gelly.
With the act of feare stands dumbe,
And speake not to him: this to mee
In dreadfull secrsiev impart they did.
And I with them the third night kept the watch,
Where as they had deliverd forme of the thing.
Each part made true and good,
The Apparition comes: I knew your father,
These handes are not more like.

Ham. Tis very strange.

Hor. As I do liue, my honord lord, tis true,
And wee did thinke it right done,
In our dutie to let you know it.

Ham. Where was this?

Mar. My Lord, vpon the platforme where we watched.

Ham. Did you not speake to it?

Hor. My Lord we did, but answere made it none,
Yet once me thought it was about to speake,
And lifted vp his head to motion,
Like as he would speake, but euem then
The morning cocke crew lowd, and in all haste,
It shrunkce in haste away, and vanished
Our sight.

Ham. Indeed, indeed sirs, but this troubles me:

Hold you the watch to night?

All. We do my Lord.

Ham. Armed say ye?

All. Armed my good Lord.

Ham. From top to toe?

All. My good Lord, from head to foote.

Ham. Why then saw you not his face?

Hor. O yes my Lord, he wore his beuer vp.

Ham. How lookt he, frowningly?

Hor. A countenance more in sorrow than in anger.

Ham. Pale, or red?

Hor. Nay, verie pal
The Tragedie of Hamlet

Ham. And fixt his eies vpon you.
Hor. Most constantly.
Ham. I would I had beene there.
Hor. It would a much amazed you.
Ham. Yea very like,very like,staid it long?
Hor. While one with moderate pace
Might tell a hundred.
Mar. O longer, longer.
Ham. His beard was grisled, no.
Hor. It was as I haue seene it in his life,
A sable siluer.
Ham. I wil watch to night, perchance t’wil walke againe.
Hor. I warrant it will.
Ham. If it assume my noble fathers person,
Ile speake to it, if hell itselfe should gape,
And bid me hold my peace, Gentlemen,
If you haue bither consealed this sight,
Let it be tenible in your silence still,
And whatsoever else shall chance to night,
Giuie it an understanding, but no tongue,
I will requit your loues, so fare you well,
Vpon the platforme, twixt eleuen and twelue,
Ile visit you.

All. Our duties to your honor. exectnt.

Ham. O your loues,your loues, as mine to you,
Farewell, my fathers spirit in Armes,
Well, all’s not well. I doubt some foule play,
Would the night were come,
Till then, sit still my soule, foule deeds will rise
Though all the world orewhelme them to mens eies. Exit.

Enter Leartes and Ophelia.

Leart. My necessaries are inbarkt, I must aboard,
But ere I part, marke what I say to thee:
I see Prince Hamlet makes a shew of loue
Beware Ophelia, do not trust his vows,
Perhaps he loues you now, and now his tongue,
Speakes
Prince of Denmark.

Speakes from his heart, but yet take heed my sister,
The Chariest maide is prodigall enough,
If she vnmaske hir beautie to the Moone.
Vertue it selfe scapes not calumnious thoughts,
Belieuer Ofelia, therefore keepe a loose
Lest that he trip thy honor and thy name.

Ofel. Brother, to this I haue lent attentiue eare,
And doubt not but to keepe my honour firme,
But my deere brother, do not you
Like to a cunning Sophister,
Teach me the path and ready way to heauen,
While you forgetting what is said to me,
Your selfe, like to a carelesse libertine
Doth giue his heart, his appetite at ful,
And little recks how that his honour dies.

Lear. No, feare it not my deere Ofelia,
Here comes my father, occasion smiles vpon a second leaue.

Enter Corambis.

Cor. Yet here Learies? aboord, aboord, for shame,
The winde sits in the shoulder of your saile,
And you are staid for, there my blessing with thee
And these few precepts in thy memory.
" Be thou familiar, but by no meanes vulgare;
" Those friends thou hast, and their adoptions tried,
" Grapple them to thee with a hoopre of steele,
" But do not dull the palme with entertaine,
" Of every new vnflug'd courage,
" Beware of entrance into a quarrell; but being in,
" Beare it that the opposed may beware of thee,
" Costly thy apparrell, as thy purse can buy.
" But not exprest in fashion,
" For the apparell oft proclaims the man.
And they of France of the chiefe rancke and station
Are of a most select and generall chiefe in that:
" This aboue all, to thy owne selfe be true,
And it must follow as the night the day,

Thou
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Thou canst not then be false to any one,
Farewel, my blessing with thee.

Lear. I humbly take my leave, farewell Ophelia,
And remember well what I have said to you. exit.

Oph. It is already lost within my heart,
And you yourself shall keep the key of it.

Cor. What is't Ophelia he hath said to you?
Oph. Something touching the prince Hamlet.

Cor. Mary well thought on, 'tis given me to understand,
That you have been too prodigal of your maiden presence
Unto Prince Hamlet, if it be so,
As so tis given to me, and that in waie of caution
I must tell you; you do not understand your selfe
So well as befits my honor, and your credite.

Oph. My lord, he hath made many tenders of his love to me.

Cor. Tenders, I, I, tenders you may call them.
Oph. And withall, such earnest vows.

Cor. Springes to catch woodcocks,
What, do not I know when the blood doth burne,
How prodigall the tongue lends the heart vows,
In briefe, be more scanter of your maiden presence,
Or tending thus you'll tender mee a foole.

Oph. I shall obey my lord in all I may.

Cor. Ophelia, receive none of his letters,
"For lovers lines are snares to intrap the heart;
"Refuse his tokens, both of them are keyes
To unkloke Chastitie unto Desire;
Come in Ophelia, such men often proue,
"Great in their wordes, but little in their loue.

Oph. I will my lord.

Exit Hamlet, Horatio, and Marcellus.

Ham. The ayre bites shrewd; it is an eager and
An nipping winde, what hour is'it?

Hor. I think it lacks of twelve.

Sound Trumpets.

Mar. No, 'tis strucke.

Hora.
Prince of Denmark.

Hor. Indeed I heard it not, what doth this mean my lord?

Ham. O the king doth wake to night, & takes his rowne,
Keepe wassell, and the swaggering vp-spring reesles,
And as he dreames, his draughts of renish downe,
The kettle, drumme, and trumpet, thus bray out,
The triumphes of his pledge.

Hor. Is it a custome here?

Ham. I mary i’st and though I am
Natiue here, and to the maner borne,
It is a custome, more honourd in the breach,
Then in the observance.

Enter the Ghost.

Hor. Looke my Lord, it comes.

Ham. Angells and Ministers of grace defend vs,
Be thou a spirite of health, or goblin damu’d,
Bring with thee ayres from heanen, or blasts from hell;
Be thy intents wicked or charitable,
Thou commest in such questionable shape,
That I will speake to thee,
Ile call thee Hamlet, King, Father, Royall Dane,
O answere mee, let mee not burst in ignorance,
But say why thy canonizd bones hearsed in death
Haue burst their ceremonies: why thy Sepulcher,
In which wee saw thee quietly inter’d,
Hath burst his ponderous and marble lawes,
To cast thee vp againe: what may this meane,
That thou, dead corse, againe in compleate steele,
Reuissets thus the glimses of the Moone,
Making night hideous, and we fooles of nature,
So horridely to shake our disposition,
With thoughts beyond the reaches of our soules?
Say, speake, wherefore, what may this meane?

Hor. It beckons you, as though it had something
To impart to you alone.

Mar. Looke with what courteous action
It waues you to a more remoued ground.
The Tragedie of Hamlet

But do not go with it.

Hor. No, by no meanes my Lord.

Ham. It will not speake, then will I follow it.

Hor. What if it tempt you toward the flood my Lord.

That beckles ore his bace, into the sea,
And there assume some other horrible shape,
Which might deprive your soueraignty of reason,
And driue you into madnesse: thinke of it.

Ham. Still am I called, go on, Ile follow thee.

Hor. My Lord, you shall not go.

Ham. Why what should be the feare?

I do not set my life at a pinnes fee,
And for my soule, what can it do to that?
Being a thing immortall, like it selfe,
Go on, Ile follow thee.

Mar. My Lord be rulde, you shall not goe.

Ham. My fate cries out, and makes each petty Artiue

As hardy as the Nemeon Lyons nerue,
Still am I cald, vnhand me gentlemen;
By heauen Ile make a ghost of him that lets me,
Away I say, go on, Ile follow thee.

Hor. He waxeth desperate with imagination.

Mar. Something is rotten in the state of Denmarke.

Hor. Haue after; to what issue will this sort?

Mar. Lets follow, tis not fit thus to obey him. exit.

Enter Ghost and Hamlet.

Ham. Ile go no farther, whither wilt thou leade me?

Ghost Marke me.

Ham. I will.

Ghost I am thy fathers spirit, doomd for a time

To walke the night, and all the day

Confinde in flaming fire,

Till the foule crimes done in my dayes of Nature

Arepurged and burnt away.

Ham. Alas poore Ghost.

Ghost Nay pitty me not, but to my vnfolding

Lend
Prince of Denmarke.

Lend thy listning eare, but that I am forbid
To tell the secrets of my prison house
I would a tale vnfold, whose lightest word
Would harrow vp thy soule, freeze thy yong blood,
Make thy two eyes like stars start from their spheres,
Thy knotted and combined locks to part,
And each particular haire to stand on end
Like quils vpon the fretfull Porpentine,
But this same blazon must not be, to eares of flesh and blood
Hamlet, if ever thou didst thy deere father loue.

Ham. O God.

Gho. Reuenge his foule, and most vnnatural murder:

Ham. Murder.

Ghost Yea, murder in the highest degree,
As in the least tis bad,
But mine most foule, beastly, and vnnatural.

Ham. Haste me to knowe it, that with wings as swift as meditation, or the thought of it, may sweepe to my reuenge.

Ghost O I finde thee apt, and duller shouldst thou be
Then the fat weede which rootes it selfe in case
On Lethe wharffe: brieue let me be.
Tis giuen out, that sleeping in my orchard,
A Serpent stung me; so the whole eare of Denmarke
Is with a forged Proses of my death rankely abusde:
But know thou noble Youth: he that did sting
Thy fathers heart, now weares his Crowne.

Ham. O my prophetike soule, my vnkle! my vnkle!

Ghost Yea he, that incestuous wretch, wonne to his will
O wicked will, and gifts! that haue the power (with gifts,
So to seduce my most seeming vertuous Queene,
But vertue, as it neuer will be moued,
Though Lewdnesse court it in a shape of heauen,
So Lust, though to a radiant angle linckt,
Would fate it selfe from a celestiall bedde,
And prey on garbage: but soft, me thinks
I sent the mornings ayre, brieue let me be,

Sleeping
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Sleeping within my Orchard, my custome alwayes
In the after noone, vpon my secure houre
Thy vnkle came, with iuyce of Hebona
In a viall, and through the porches of my eares
Did powre the leaprous distilment,whose effect
Hold such an enmitie with blood of man,
That swift as quickesilner, it posteth through
The naturall gates and allies of the body,
And turnes the thinne and wholesome blood
Like eager dropings into milke.
And all my smoothe body, barked,and tetted over.
Thus was I sleeping by a brothers hand
Of Crowne,of Queene,of life,of dignitie
At once depruied, no reckoning made of,
But sent vnto my graue,
With all my accompts and sinnes vpon my head,
O horrible, most horrible!

Ham. O God!

ghost If thou hast nature in thee, beare it not,
But howsoever, let not thy heart
Conspire against thy mother aught,
Leaue her to heauen,
And to the burthen that her conscience beares.
I must be gone, the Glo-worme shewes the Martin
To be neere, and gin's to pale his vneffectuall fire:
Hamlet adue,adue,adue : remember me.

Ham. O all you hostes of heauen! O earth,what else?
And shall I couple hell; remember thee?
Yes thou poore Ghost; from the tables
Of my memorie, ile wipe away all sawes of Bookes,
All truiuall fond conceites
That euer youth,or else observance noted,
And thy remembrance, all alone shall sit.
Yes, yes, by heauen, a damnd pernitious villaine,
Murderons, bawdy, smiling damned villaine,
(My tables) meet it is I set it downe,
Prince of Denmark

That one may smile, and smile, and be a villain;
At least I am sure, it may be so in Denmark.
So uncle, there you are, there you are.
Now to the words; it is adue adue: remember me,
Soe tis enough. I haue sworne.

Hor. My lord, my lord.

Mar. Lord Hamlet.

Hor. Ill, lo, lo, ho, ho.

Mar. Ill, lo, lo, so, ho, ho, come boy, come.

Hor. Heauens secure him.

Mar. How i'st my noble lord?

Hor. What news my lord?

Ham. O wonderfull, wonderful.

Hor. Good my lord tel it.

Ham. No not I, you'll reualse it.

Hor. Not I my Lord by heauen.

Mar. Nor I my Lord.

Ham. How say you there? would hart of man

Once thinke it? but you'll be secret.

Both. I by heauen, my lord.

Ham. There's never a villaine dwelling in all Denmark,

But hee's an arrant knawe.

Hor. There need no Ghost come from the grasse to tell you this.

Ham. Right, you are in the right, and therefore
I holde it meet without more circumstance at all,
Wee shake hands and part; you as your busines
And desiers shall leade you: for looke you,
Every man hath busines, and desires, such
As it is, and for my owne poore parte, ile go pray.

Hor. These are but wild and wherling words, my Lord.

Ham. I am sory they offend you, hartely, yes faith hartily.

Hor. Their no offence my Lord.

Ham. Yes by Saint Patrice but there is Horatio,

And much offence too, touching this vision,
It is an honest ghost, that let mee tell you,
The Tragedie of Hamlet

For your desires to know what is betweene vs,
Or'emaister it as you may:
And now kind frends, as yon are frends,
Schollers and gentlemen,
Grant mee one poore request.
Both. What i'st my Lord?
Ham. Neuer make known what you haue seene to night
Both. My lord, we will not.
Ham. Nay but sweare.
Hor. In faith my Lord not I.
Mar. Nor I my Lord in faith.
Ham. Nay vpon my sword, indeed vpon my sword.
Gho. Sweare.

The Gost under the stage.

Ham. Ha, ha, come you here, this fellow in the sellerige,
Here consent to sweare.
Hor. Propose the oth my Lord.
Ham. Neuer to speake what you haue seene to night,
Sweare by my sword.
Gost. Sweare.

Ham. Hic & ubique; nay then weele shift our ground:
Come hither Gentlemen, and lay your handes
Againe vpon this sword, neuer to speake
Of that which you haue seene, sweare by my sword.
Ghost Sweare.

Ham. Well said old Mole, can'st worke in the earth?
so fast, a worthy Pioner, once more remoue.
Hor. Day and night, but this is wondrous strange.
Ham. And therefore as a stranger give it welcome,
There are more things in heauen and earth Horatio,
Then are Dream't of, in your philosophie,
But come here, as before you neuer shall
How strange or odde soere I beare my selfe,
As I perchance hereafter shall thinke meet,
To put an Anticke disposition on,
That you at such times seeing me, neuer shall

With
Prince of Denmarke.

With Arme, incombreth thus, or this head shake,
Or by pronouncing some vndoubtfull phrase,
As well well, wee know, or wee could and if we would,
Or there be, and if they might, or such ambiguous:
Giving out to note, that you know aught of mee,
This not to doe, so grace, and mercie
At your most need helpe you, sweare

Ghost. sweare.

Ham. Rest, rest, perturbed spirit: so gentlemen,
In all my loue I do commend mee to you,
And what so poore a man as Hamlet may,
To pleasure you, God willing shall not want,
Nay come lett's go together,
But stil your fingers on your lippes I pray,
The time is out of ioynt, O cursed spite,
That euer I was borne to set it right,
Nay come lett's go together. Exeunt.

Enter Corambis, and Montano.

Cor. Montano, here, these letters to my sonne,
And this same mony with my blessing to him,
And bid him ply his learning good Montano.

Mon. I will my lord.

Cor. You shall do very well Montano, to say thus,
I knew the gentleman, or know his father,
To inquire the manner of his life,
As thus; being amongst his acquaintance,
You may say, you saw him at such a time, marke you mee,
At game, or drinking, swearing, or drabbing,
You may go so farre.

Mon. My lord, that will impeach his reputation.

Cor. I faith not a whit, no not a whit,
Now happily hee closeth with you in the consequence,
As you may bridle it not disparage him a iote.
What was I about to say,

Mon. He closeth with him in the consequence.

Cor. I, you say right, he closeth with him thus,
The Tragedy of Hamlet

This will bee my, let mee see what hee will say,
Mary this, I saw him yesterday, or tother day,
Or then, or at such a time, a dicing,
Or at Tennis, I or drinking drunke, or entring.
Of a howse of lightnes viz. brothell,
Thus sir do wee that know the world, being men of reach,
By indirections, finde directions forth,
And so shall you my sonne; you ha me, ha you not?

Mon. I haue my lord.

Cor. Wel, fars you well, commend mee to him.

Mon. I will my lord.

Cor. And bid him ply his musicke

Mon. My lord I wil. exit.

Enter, Ofelia.

Cor. Farewel, how now Ofelia, what's the news with you?

Of. O my deare father, such a change in nature,
So great an alteration in a Prince,
So pitifull to him, fearefull to mee,
A maidens eye ne're looked on.

Cor. Why what's the matter my Ofelia?

Of. O yong Prince Hamlet, the only flower of Denmark,
Hee is bereft of all the wealth he had,
The Iswell that ador'nd his feature most
Is filcht and stolne away, his wit's bereft him,
Hee found mee walking in the gallery all alone,
There comes hee to mee, with a distracted looke,
His garters lagging downe, his shoes vsetide,
And fixt his eyes so stedfast on my face,
As if they had vow'd, this is their latest obiect.
Small while he stoode, but gripes me by the wrist,
And there he holdes my pulse till with a sigh
He doth vnclaspe his holde, and parts away
Silent, as is the mid time of the night:
And as he went, his eie was still on mee,
For thus his head ouer his shoulder looked,
He seemed to finde the way without his eies:

For
Prince of Denmark.

For out of doores he went without their helpe,
And so did leave me.

Cor. Madde for thy loute,
What haue you giuen him any crosse wordes of late?

Ophelia I did repel his letters, deny his gifts,
As you did charge me.

Cor. Why that hath made him madde:
By heau'n t'is as proper for our age to cast
Beyond our selues, as t'is for the yonger sort
To leave their wantonnesse. Well, I am sorry
That I was so rash: but what remedy?
Lets to the King, this madnesse may prooue,
Though wilde a while, yet more true to thy loute.

Enter King and Queen, Rosencraft, and Gilderstone.

King Right noble friends, that our deere cosin Hamlet
Hath lost the very heart of all his sence,
It is most right, and we most sory for him:
Therefore we doe desire, even as you tender
Our care to him, and our great loute to you,
That you will labour but to wring from him
The cause and ground of his distemperancie.

Doe this, the king of Denmark shall be thankfull.

Ros. My Lord, whatsoever lies within our power
Your maiestie may more commaund in wordes
Then vse persuasions to your liege men,bound
By loute, by dutie, and obedience.

Guil. What we may doe for both your Maiesties
To know the grieue troubles the Prince your soune,
We willindewour all the best we may,
So in all dutie doe we take our lease.

King Thankses Gilderstone, and gentle Rossencraft.

Que. Thankses Rossencraft, and gentle Gilderstone.

Enter Corambis and Ophelia.

Cor. My Lord, the Ambassadors are joyfully
Return'd from Norway.

King Thou still hast beene the father of good news.

D 3 Cor.
The Tragedie of Hamlet

Cor. Haue I my Lord? I assure your grace,
I holde my duetie as I holde my life,
Both to my God, and to my soueraigne King:
And I beleue, or else this braine of mine
Hunts not the traine of policie so well
As it had wont to doe, but I haue found
The very depth of Hamlets lunacie.
               Queene  God graunt he hath.

Enter the Ambassadors.

King Now Voltemar, what from our brother Norway?
Volv. Most faire returns of greetings and desires,
Vpon our first he sent forth to suppressse
His nephews leuies, which to him appear'd
To be a preparation against the Polacke:
But better look't into, he truely found
It was against your Highnesse, whereat grieued,
That so his sickenesse, age, and impotence,
Was falsely borne in hand, sends out arrests
On Fortenbrasse, which he in briefe obays,
Receives rebuke from Norway: and in fine,
Makes vow before his vnkle, neuer more
To giue the assay of Armes against your Maiestie,
Whereon olde Norway overcome with ioy,
Gives him three thousand crownes in annuall fee,
And his Commission to employ those soldiers,
So leuied as before, against the Polacke,
With an intreaty herein further shewne,
That it would please you to giue quiet passe
Through your dominions, for that enterprise
On such regardes of safety and allowances
As therein are set downe.

King It likes vs well, and at fit time and leasure
Weele reade and answere these his Articles,
Meane time we thanke you for your well
Tooke labour: go to your rest, at night weele feast togethers:
Right welcome home.        execunt Ambassadors.

Cor.
Prince of Denmarke.

Cor. This busines is very well dispatched.
Now my Lord, touching the yong Prince Hamlet,
Certaine it is that hee is madde: mad let vs grant him then:
Now to know the cause of this effect,
Or else to say the cause of this defect,
For this effect defectiue comes by cause.

Queene Good my Lord be breife.

Cor. Madam I will: my Lord, I haue a daughter,
Haue while shee's mine: for that we thinke
Is sureste, we often loose:now to the Prince.
My lord, but note this letter,
The which my daughter in obedience
Deliever'd to my handes.

King Reade it my Lord.

Cor. Marke my Lord.

Doubt that in earth is fire,
Doubt that the starres doe moue,
Doubt truth to be a liar,
But doe not doubt I loue.
To the beautifull Ofelia:

Thine euuer the most vnhappy Prince Hamlet.
My Lord, what doe you thinke of me?
I, or what might you thinke when I sawe this?

King As of a true friend and a most louing subiect.

Cor. I would be glad to prooue so.

Now when I saw this letter,thus I bespake my maiden:
Lord Hamlet is a Prince out of your starre,
And one that is vnequall for your loue:
Therefore I did commaund her refuse his letters,
Deny his tokens,and to absent her selue.
Shee as my childe obediently obey'd me.
Now since which time, seeing his loue thus cross'd,
Which I tooke to be idle, and but sport,
He straitway grew into a melancholy,
From that vnto a fast, then vnto distraction,
Then into a sadnesse, from that vnto a madnesse,
The Tragedy of Hamlet

And so by continuance, and weakenesse of the braine
Into this frenzie, which now possesseth him:
And if this be not true, take this from this.

King. Thinke you t'is so?

Cor. How? so my Lord, I would very saine know
That thing that I haue saide t'is so, positively,
And it hath fallen out otherwise.
Nay, if circumstances leade me on,
Ile finde it out, if it were hid
As deepe as the centre of the earth.

King. how should wee trie this same?

Cor. Mary my good lord thus,
The Princes walke is here in the gallery,
There let Ophelia, walke vntill hee comes:
Your selfe and I will stand close in the study,
There shall you heare the effect of all his hart,
And if it proue any otherwise then loye,
Then let my censure faile an other time.

King. see where hee comes poring vpon a booke.

Enter Hamlet.

Cor. Madame, will it please your grace
To leaue vs here?

Que. With all my hart. exit.

Cor. And here Ophelia, reade you on this booke,
And walke aloofe, the King shal be vnseene.

Ham. To be, or not to be, I there's the point,
To Die, to sleepe, is that all? I all:
No, to sleepe, to dreame, I mary there it goes,
For in that dreame of death, when wee awake,
And borne before an everlasting Judge,

From whence no passenger euer return'd,
The vndiscovered country, at whose sight
The happy smile, and the accursed damn'd.
But for this, the joyfull hope of this,
Whol'd beare the scornes and flattery of the world,
Scorned by the right rich, the rich cursed of the poore?

The
Prince of Denmark

The widow being oppressed, the orphan wrong'd,
The taste of hunger, or a tirants raigne,
And thousand more calamities besides,
To grunt and sweate vnder this weary life,
When that he may his full Quietus make,
With a bare bodkin, who would this indure,
But for a hope of something after death?
Which pulsles the braine, and doth confound the sence,
Which makes vs rather beare those euilles we haue,
Than fle to others that we know not of.
I that, O this conscience makes cowardes of vs all,
Lady in thy orizons, be all my sinnes remembred.

OSEL. My Lord, I haue sought opportunitie, which now
I haue, to redeliuer to your worthy handes, a small remembrance, such tokens which I haue receiued of you.

HAM. Are you faire?
OSEL. My Lord.
HAM. Are you honest?
OSEL. What meanes my Lord?
HAM. That if you be faire and honest,
Your beauty should admit no discourse to your honesty.
OSEL. My Lord, can beauty haue better pruiledge than with honesty?

HAM. Yea mary may it; for Beauty may transforme
Honesty, from what she was into a bawd:
Then Honesty can transforme Beauty:
This was sometimes a Paradox,
But now the time giues it scope.
I neuer gaue you nothing.

OSEL. My Lord, you know right well you did,
And with them such earnest vowes of loue,
As would haue moo'd the stoniest breast aliue,
But now too true I finde,
Rich giftes waxe poore, when giuers grow vnkinde.

HAM. I neuer loued you.
OSEL. You made me beleue you did.

E

HAM.
The Tragedie of Hamlet

Ham. O thou shouldst not a beleueed me!
Go to a Nunnery goe, why shouldst thou
Be a breeder of sinners? I am my selfe indifferent honest,
But I could accuse my selfe of such crimes
It had beene better my mother had ne're borne me,
O I am very prowde, ambitious, disdainfull,
With more sinnes at my becke, then I haue thoughts
To put them in, what should such fellowes as I
Do, crawling between heauen and earth?
To a Nunnery goe, we are arrant knaues all,
Beleue none of vs, to a Nunnery goe.

Ofel. O heauens secure him!

Ham. Wher's thy father?

Ofel. At home my lord.

Ham. For Gods sake let the doores be shut on him,
He may play the foole no where but in his Owne house:to a Nunnery goe.

Ofel. Help him good God.

Ham. If thou dost marry, Ie giue thee
This plague to thy dowry:
Be thou as chaste as yce, as pure as snowe,
Thou shalt not scape calumny,to a Nunnery goe.

Ofel. Alas, what change is this?

Ham. But if thou wilt needes marry,marry a foole,
For wisemen know well enough,
What monsters you make of them,to a Nunnery goe,

Ofel. Pray God restore him.

Ham. Nay, I haue heard of your paintings too,
God hath giuen you one face,
And you make your selues another,
You fig,and you amble, and you nickname Gods creatures,
Making your wantonnesse, your ignorance,
A pox, tis scurvy, Ie no more of-it,
It hath made me madde: Ie no more marriages,
All that are married but one,shall liue,
The rest shall keepe as they are, to a Nunnery goe,
Prince of Denmarke.

To a Nunnery goe. exit.

Ofe. Great God of heauen, what a quicke change is this?
The Courtier, Scholler, Souldier, all in him,
All dasht and splintered thence, O woe is me,
To a scene what I haue seene, see what I see. exit.

King. Loue? No, no, that's not the cause, Enter King and
Some deeper thing it is that troubles him. Corambis.

Cor. Wel, something it is my Lord, content you a while,
I will my selfe goe seele him. let me worke,
Ile try him every way: see where he comes,
Send you those Gentlemen, let me alone
To finde the depth of this, away, be gone. exit King.

Now my good Lord, do you know me? Enter Hamlet.

Ham. Yea very well, y'are a shammonger.
Cor. Not I my Lord.

Ham. Then sir, I would you were so honest a man,
For to be honest, as this age goes,
Is one man to be pickt out of tenne thousand.
Cor. What doe you reade my Lord?

Ham. Wordes, wordes.
Cor. What's the matter my Lord?

Ham. Betweene who?
Cor. I meane the matter you reade my Lord.

Ham. Mary most vile heresie:
For here the Satyricall Satyre writes,
That olde men haue hollow eyes, weake backes,
Grey beardes, Pittifull weake hames, gowty legges,
All which sir, I most potently beleue not:
For sir, your selfe shalbe olde as I am,
If like a Crabbe, you could goe backeward.

Cor. How pregnant his replies are, and full of wit:
Yet at first he tooke me for a shammonger:
All this comes by loue, the vemencie of loue,
And when I was yong, I was very idle,
And suffered much extasie in loue, very neere this:
Will you walke out of the aire my Lord?

Ham.
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Ham. Into my grave.

Cor. By the masse that's out of the aire indeed,

Very shrewd answers,

My lord I will take my leave of you.

Enter Gilderstone, and Rossencraft.

Ham. You can take nothing from me sir,

I will more willingly part with all,

Olde doating foole.

Cor. You seeke Prince Hamlet, see, there he is. exit.

Gil. Health to your Lordship.

Ham. What, Gilderstone, and Rossencraft,

Welcome kinde Schoole-fellowes to Elanoure.

Gil. We thanke your Grace, and would be very glad

You were as when we were at Wittenberg.

Ham. I thanke you, but is this visitation free of Your selues, or were you not sent for?

Tell me true, come, I know the good King and Queene

Sent for you, there is a kinde of confession in your eye:

Come, I know you were sent for.

Gil. What say you?

Ham. Nay then I see how the winde sits,

Come, you were sent for.

Ross. My lord, we were, and willingly if we might,

Know the cause and ground of your discontent.

Ham. Why I want preferment.

Ross. I thinke not so my lord.

Ham. Yes faith, this great world you see contents me not,

No nor the spangled heauens, nor earth, nor sea,

No nor Man that is so glorious a creature,

Contents not me, no nor woman too, though you laugh.

Gil. My lord, we laugh not at that.

Ham. Why did you laugh then,

When I said, Man did not content mee?

Gil. My Lord, we laughed, when you said, Man did not content you.

What entertainement the Players shall haue,
Prince of Denmarke.

We boorded them a the way: they are comming to you.

Ham. Players, what Players be they?

Ross. My Lord, the Tragedians of the Citty,

Those that you tooke delight to see so often. (stie?)

Ham. How comes it that they trauell? Do they grow re-

Gil. No my Lord, their reputation holds as it was wont.

Ham. How then?

Gil. Yfaith my Lord, noueltie carries it away,

For the principall publike audience that
Came to them, are turned to priuate playes,
And to the humour of children.

Ham. I doe not greatly wonder of it,

For those that would make mops and moes
At my vnkle, when my father liued,
Now giue a hundred, two hundred pounds
For his picture: but they shall be welcome,

He that playes the King shall haue tribute of me,
The ventrous Knight shall see his foyle and target,
The louer shall sigh gratis,
The clowne shall make them laugh (for't,
That are tickled in the lungs, or the blanke verse shall halt
And the Lady shall haue leaue to speake her minde freely.

The Trumpets sound, Enter Corambis.

Do you see yonder great baby?
He is not yet out of his swadling clowts.

Gil. That may be, for they say an olde man
Is twice a childe.

Ham. Ile prophecie to you, hee comes to tell mee a the
You say true, a monaday last, t'was so indeede.

Cor. My lord, I haue news to tell you.

Ham. My Lord, I haue newes to tell you:

When Rossios was an Actor in Rome.

Cor. The Actors are come hither, my lord.

Ham. Buz, buz.

Cor. The best Actors in Christendome,
Either for Comedy, Tragedy, Historie, Pastorall,
The Tragedie of Hamlet

Pastorall, Historiall, Historiall, Comicall,
Comicall historicall, Pastorall, Tragedy historicall:
Senecan cannot be too heavy, nor Plato too light:

> For the law hath writ those are the onely men.

Ha. O Iephah Judge of Israel! what a treasure hadst thou?
Cor. Why what a treasure had he my lord?
Ham. Why one faire daughter, and no more,
The which he loued passing well.

Cor. A, stil harping a my daughter! well my Lord,
If you call me Iephah, I haue a daughter that
I loue passing well.

Ham. Nay that followes not.
Cor. What followes then my Lord?
Ham. Why by lot, or God wot, or as it came to passe,
And so it was, the first verse of the godly Ballet
Wil tel you all: for look you where my abridgement comes:
Welcome maisters, welcome all, Enter players.
What my olde friend, thy face is wallanced
Since I saw thee last, com'st thou to heard me in Denmark?
My yong lady and mistris, burlady but your (you were:
Ladishep is growne by the altitude of a chopine higher than
Pray God sir your voyce, like a peece of vncurrant
Golde, be not crack't in the ring: come on maisters,
Weele euen too't, like French Falconers,
Flie at any thing we see, come, a taste of your Qualitie, a speech, a passionate speech.

Players What speech my good lord?

Ham. I heard thee speake a speech once,
But it was neuer acted: or if it were,
Neuer aboue twice, bar as I remember,
It pleased not the vulgar, it was caviary
To the million: but to me
And others, that received it in the like kinde,
Cried in the toppes of their judgements, an excellent play,
Set downe with as great modestie as cunning:
One said there was no sallets in the lines to make the sauory,

But
Prince of Denmarke.

But called it an honest methode, as wholesome as sweete.
Come, a speech in it I chiefly remember
Was Aeneas tale to Dido,
And then especially where he talkes of Princes slaughter,
If it liue in thy memory beginne at this line,
Let me see.
The rugged Pyrrus, like th'arganian beast:
No t'is not so, it begins with Pirrus:
O I haue it.
The rugged Pirrus, he whose sable armes,
Blanke as his purpose did the night resemble,
When he lay couched in the ominous horse,
Hath now his blanke and grimme complexion smereed
With Heraldry more dismal, head to foote,
Now is he total guise, horridely tricked
With blood of fathers, mothers, daughters, sonnes,
Back't and imparched in calagulate gore,
Rifted in earth and fire, olde grandsire Pryam seekes:
So goe on.

Cor. Afore God, my Lord, well spoke, and with good

Play. Anone he finds him striking too short at Greeks,
His antike sword rebellious to his Arme,
Lies where it falles, vnable to resist.

Pyrrus at Pryam driues, but all in rage,
Strikes wide, but with the whiffe and winde
Of his fell sword, th'unnerued father falles.

Cor. Enough my friend, t'is too long.

Ham. It shal to the Barbers with your beard:
A pox, hee's for a ligge, or a tale of bawdry,
Or else he sleepe, come on to Hecuba, come.

Play. But who, O who had seene the mobled Queene?
Cor. Mobled Queene's good, faith very good.

Play. All in the alarum and feare of death rose vp,
And o're her weake and all ore-teeming joynes, a blancket
And a kercher on that head, where late the diademe stoode,
Who this had seene with tongue intenom'd speech,

Would
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Would treason have pronounced,
For if the gods themselves had scene her then,
When she saw Pirrus with malicious strokes,
Mincing her husbandes limbs,
It would have made milch the burning eyes of heauen,
And passion in the gods.

Cor. Looke my lord if he hath not changde his colour,
And hath teares in his eyes: no more good heart, no more.

Ham. Tis well, tis very well, I pray my lord,
Will you see the Players well bestowed,
I tell you they are the Chronicles
And briefe abstracts of the time,
After your death I can tell you,
You were better haue a bad Epiteeth,
Then their ill report while you live.

Cor. My lord, I will vse them according to their deserts.

Ham. O farre better man, vse every man after his deserts.
Then who should scape whipping?
Vse them after your owne honor and dignitie,
The lesse they deserve, the greater credit's yours.

Cor. Welcome my good fellowes. exit.

Ham. Come hither maisters, can you not play the murder of Gonsago?

players Yes my Lord.

Ham. And couldst not thou for a neede study me
Some dozen or sixteene lines,
Which I would set downe and insert?

players Yes very easily my good Lord.

Ham. Tis well, I thanke you: follow that lord:
And doe you heare sirs? take heede you mocke him not.
Gentlemen, for your kindnes I thanke you,
And for a time I would desire you leaue me.

Gil. Our loue and duetie is at your commaund.

Exeunt all but Hamlet.

Ham. Why what a dunghill idiote slaeue am I?
Why, these Players here draw water from eyes: For
Prince of Denmarke

For Hecuba, why what is Hecuba to him, or he to Hecuba?
What would he do and if he had my losse?
His father murdred, and a Crowne bereft him,
He would turne all his teares to droppes of blood,
Amaze the standers by with his laments,
Strike more then wonder in the judiciaall eares,
Confound the ignorant, and make mute the wise,
Indeede his passion would be generall.
Yet I like to an asse and Iohn a Dreames,
Hauing my father murdred by a villaine,
Stand still, and let it passe, why sure I am a coward:
Who pluckes me by the beard, or twites my nose,
Giu's me the lie i'th throate downe to the lungs,
Sure I should take it, or else I haue no gall,
Or by this I should a fatted all the region kites
With this slaues offell, this damned villaine,
Treacherous, bawdy, murderous villaine:
Why this is braue, that I the sonne of my deare father,
Should like a scalion, like a very drabbe
Thus raile in wordes. About my braine,
I haue heard that guilty creatures sitting at a play,
Hath, by the very cunning of the scene, confess a murder
Committed long before.
This spirit that I haue seene may be the Diuell,
And out of my weakesnesse and my melancholy,
As he is very potent with such men,
Doth seeke to damne me, I will haue sounder proofes,
The play's the thing,
Wherein I'lle catch the conscience of the King. exit.

Gil. My lord, we haue done all the best we could,
To wring from him the cause of all his grieue,
But still he puts vs off, and by no meanes
Would make an answere to that we exposde.

Ross. Yet was he something more inclin'd to mirth
Before we left him, and I take it,
He hath giuen order for a play to night,
At which he craues your highnesse company.

King With all our heart, it likes vs very well:
Gentlemen, seeke still to increase his mirth,
Spare for no cost, our coffers shall be open,
And we vnto your selues will still be thankefull.

And locke them in my hart, but to his foes,
I will no reconcilement but by bloud.

king Why now you speake like a most louing sonne:
And that in soule we sorrow for his death,
Your selfe ere long shall be a witnesse,
Meane while be patient, and content your selfe.

Enter Ofelia as before.

Lear. Who's this, Ofelia? O my deere sister!
I' st possible a yong maides life,
Should be as mortall as an olde mans sawe?
O heau'ns themselues! how now Ofelia?

Ofel. Wel God a mercy, I a bin gathering of flource:
Here, here is rew for you,
You may call it hearb a grace a Sundayes,
Heere's some for me too: you must weare your rew
With a difference, there's a dazie.
Here Loue, there's rosemary for you
For remembrance: I pray Loue remember,
And there's pansey for thoughts.

Lear. A document in madnes, thoughts, remembrance:
O God, O God!

Ofelia There is fennell for you, I would a giun you
Some violets, but they all withered, when
My father died: alas, they say the owle was
A Bakers daughter, we see what we are,
But can not tell what we shall be.

For
Prince of Denmarke.

For bonny sweete Robin is all my joy.

Lear. Thoughts & afflicts,torments worse than hell.

Ofel. Nay Loue,I pray you make no words of this now:

I pray now, you shall sing a downe,
And you a downe a, t’is a the Kings daughter
And the false steward,and if any body
Aske you of any thing, say you this.
To morrow is saint Valentines day,
All in the morning betime,
And a maide at your window,
To be your Valentine:
The yong man rose, and dan’d his clothes,
And duped the chamber doore,
Let in the maide, that out a maide
Neuer departed more.

Nay I pray marke now,
By gisle,and by saint Charitie,
Away,and fie for shame:
Yong men will doo’t when they come too’t:
By cocke they are too blame.
Quoth she, before you tumbled me,
You promised me to wed.
So would I a done,by yonder Sunne,
If thou hadst not come to my bed.
So God be with you all, God bwy Ladies.
God bwy you Loue. exit Ofelia.

Lear. Griepe vpon griepe, my father murdered,
My sister thus distracted:
Cursed be his soule that wrought this wicked act.

king. Content you good Leartes for a time,
Although I know your griepe is as a floud,
Brimme full of sorrow, but forbeare a while,
And thinke already the reuenge is done
On him that makes you such a haplesse sonne.

Lear. You haue preual’d my Lord, a while T’le striue,
To bury griepe within a tombe of wrath,

H 2 Which
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Which once vnhearsd, then the world shall heare
Leartes had a father he held deere.

king No more of that, ere many dayes be done,
You shall heare that you do not dreame vpon. execunt om.

Enter Horatio and the Queene.

Hor. Madame, your sonne is safe arriv’d in Denmarke,
This letter I euen now receiv’d of him,
Whereas he writes how he escap’t the danger,
And subtle treason that the king had plotted,
Being crossed by the contention of the windes,
He found the Packet sent to the king of England,
Wherein he saw himselfe betray’d to death,
As at his next convusion with your grace,
He will relate the circumstance at full.

Queene Then I perceiue there’s treason in his lookes
That seem’d to sugar o’re his villanie:
But I will soothe and please him for a time,
For murderous minde are always jealous,
But know not you Horatio where he is?

Hor. Yes Madame, and he hath appoynted me
To meete him on the east side of the Cittie
To morrow morning.

Queene O faile not, good Horatio, and withall, com-
A mothers care to him, bid him a while (mend me
Be wary of his presence, lest that he
Faile in that he goes about.

Hor. Madam, neuer make doubt of that:
I thinke by this the news be come to court:
He is arriv’d, obserue the king, and you shall Quickly finde, Hamlet being here,
Things fell not to his minde.

Queene But what became of Gilderstone and Rosencraft?

Hor. He being set ashore, they went for England,
And in the Packet there writ down that doome
To be perform’d on them poynted for him:
And by great chance he had his fathers Seale,
Prince of Denmarke.

So all was done without discouerie.

Queene Thanks be to heaven for blessing of the prince,
Horatio once againe I take my leaue,
With thousand mothers blessings to my sonne.

Horat. Madam adue.

Enter King and Learst.

King. Hamlet from England! is it possible?
What chance is this? they are gone, and he come home.

Lear. O he is welcome, by my soule he is:
At it my iocund heart doth leape for joy,
That I shall liue to tell him, thus he dies.

king Learst, content your selfe, be rulde by me,
And you shall haue no let for your reuenge.

Lear. My will, not all the world.

King Nay but Learst,marke the plot I haue layde,
I haue heard him often with a greedy wish,
Vpon some praise that he hath heard of you
Touching your weapon, which with all his heart,
He might be once tasked for to try your cunning.

Lea. And how for this?

King Mary Learst thus: I'le lay a wager,
Shalbe on Hamlets side, and you shall gie the oddes,
The which will draw him with a more desire,
To try the maistry, that in twelue venies
You gaine not three of him: now this being granted,
When you are hot in midst of all your play,
Among the foyles shall a keene rapier lie,
Steeped in a mixture of deadly poysom,
That if it draws but the least dramme of blood,
In any part of him, he cannot liue:
This being done will free you from suspition,
And not the dearest friend that Hamlet lov'de.
Will euer haue Learst in suspect.

Lear. My lord, I like it well:
But say lord Hamlet should refuse this match.

King I'le warrant you, we'e le put on you

H 3 Such
The Tragedie of Hamlet

Such a report of singularitie,
Will bring him on, although against his will.
And lest that all should misse,
I'll have a potion that shall ready stand,
In all his heate when that he calleth for drinke,
Shall be his period and our hapiness.

Lear. 'Tis excellent, O would the time were come!
Here comes the Queene.
king. How now Gertred, why looke you heavily?

Queene. O my Lord, the yong Ofelia
Haung made a garland of sundry sortes of flores,
Sitting vpon a willow by a brooke,
The enuious sprig broke, into the brooke she fell,
And for a while her clothes spread wide abroade,
Bore the yong Lady vp: and there she sate smiling,
Euen Mermaide-like, twixt heauen and earth,
Chaunting olde sundry tunes vncapeable
As it were of her distresse, but long it could not be,
Till that her clothes, being heauy with their drinke,
Dragd'd the sweete wretch to death.

Lear. So, she is drownde:
Too much of water hast thou Ofelia,
Therefore I will not drowne thee in my teares,
Reuenge it is must yeeld this heart releefe,
For woe begets woe, and griefe hangs on griefe.

enter Clowne and an other.

Clowne. I say no, she ought not to be buried
In christian buriall.

2. Why sir?

Clowne. Mary because shee's drown'd.

2. But she did not drown her selfe.

Clowne. No, that's certaine, the water drown'd her.

2. Yea but it was against her will.

Clowne. No, I deny that, for looke you sir, I stand here,
If the water come to me, I drowne not my selfe:
But if I goe to the water, and am there drown'd,

Ergo
Prince of Denmarke.

Ergo I am guiltie of my owne death:
Y're gone, goe y're gone sir.
2. I but see, she hath christian burial,
Because she is a great woman.

Clowne Mary more's the pitty, that great folke
Should haue more authoritie to hang or drowne
Themselves, more than other people:
Goe fetch me a stope of drinke, but before thou
Goest, tell me one thing, who buildest strongest,
Of a Mason, a Shipwright, or a Carpenter?
2. Why a Mason, for he buildest all of stone,
And will indure long.

Clowne That's pretty, too't agen, too't agen.
2. Why then a Carpenter, for he buildest the gallowes,
And that brings many a one to his long home.

Clowne Pretty agen, the gallowes doth well, mary howe doest it well? the gallowes doest well to them that doe ill,
goe get thee gone:
And if any one ask thee hereafter, say,
A Graue-maker, for the houses he buildest
Last till Doomes-day. Fetch me a stope of beere, goe.

Enter Hamlet and Horatio.

Clowne A picke-axe and a spade,
A spade for and a winding sheete,
Most fit it is, for t'will be made, he throwes vp a shouel.
For such a ghest most meeete.

Ham. Hath this fellow any feeling of himselfe,
That is thus merry in making of a graue?
See how the slauue joles their heads against the earth.

Hor. My lord, Custome hath made it in him seeme no-

Clowne A pick-axe and a spade, a spade, (thing.
For and a winding sheete,
Most fit it is for to be made,
For such a ghest most meet.

Ham. Looke you, there's another Horatio.

Why
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Why mai't not be the skull of some Lawyer?
Me thinkes he should indite that fellow
Of an action of Batterie, for knocking
Him about the pate with's shouel: now where is your Quirkes and quillets now, your vouchers and
Double vouchers, your leases and free-holde,
And tenements? why that same boxe there will scarce
Holde the conueiance of his land, and must
The honor lie there? O pittifull transformance!
I prethee tell me Horatio,
Is parchuuent made of sheep-skinnes?
   Hor. I my Lorde, and of calues-skinnes too.
   Ham. Ifaith they prooue themselves sheepe and calues
That deale with them, or put their trust in them.
There's another, why may not that be such a ones
Scull, that praised my Lord such a ones horse,
When he meant to beg him? Horatio, I prethee
Lets question yonder fellow.
Now my friend, whose graue is this?
   Clowne Mine sir.
   Ham. But who must lie in it?
   Clowne If I should say, I should, I should lie in my throat
   Ham. What man must be buried here?
   Clowne No man sir.
   Ham. What woman?
   Clowne. No woman neither sir, but indeede
One that was a woman.
   Ham. An excellent fellow by the Lord Horatio,
This seauen yeares haue I noted it: the toe of the pesant,
Comes so neere the heele of the courtier,
That hee gawles his kibe, I prethee tell mee one thing,
How long will a man lie in the ground before hee rots?
   Clowne Ifaith sir, if hee be not rotten before
He be laide in, as we haue many pocky corses,
He will last you, eight yeares, a tanner
Will last you eight yeares full out, or nine.
Prince of Denmarke

Ham. And why a tanner?
Clowne Why his hide is so anned with his trade,
That it will holde out water, that's a parlous
Deuourer of your dead body; a great soaker.
Looke you, heres a scull hath bin here this dozen yeare,
Let me see, I euer since our last king Hamlet
Slew Fortenbrasse in combat, yong Hamlets father,
Hee that's mad.

Ham. I mary, how came he madde?
Clowne Ifaith very strangely, by loosing of his wittes.
Ham. Vpon what ground?
Clowne A this ground, in Denmarke.
Ham. Where is he now?
Clowne Why now they sent him to England.
Ham. To England! wherefore?
Clowne Why they say he shall haue his wittes there,
Or if he haue not, tis no great matter there,
It will not be seen there.

Ham. Why not there?
Clowne Why there they say the men are as mad as he.
Ham. Whose scull was this?
Clowne This, a plague on him, a madde rogues it was,
He powred once a whole flagon of Rhenish of my head,
Why do not you know him? this was one Yorickes scull.

Ham. Was this? I prethee let me see it, alas poore Yoricke
I knew him Horatio,
A fellow of infinite mirth, he hath caried mee twenty times upon his backe, here hung those lippes that I haue Kissed a hundred times, and to see, now they abhorre me: Wheres your iests now Yorike? your flashes of meriment: now go to my Ladies chamber, and bid her paint her selfe an inch thicke, to this she must come Yoricke. Horatio, I prethee tell me one thing, doost thou thinke that Alexander looked thus?

Hor. Even so my Lord.

Ham. And smelt thus?

I

Hor.
The Tragedie of Hamlet

Hor. I my lord, no otherwise.

Ham. No, why might not imagination wooke, as thus of Alexander, Alexander died, Alexander was buried, Alexander became earth, of earth we make clay, and Alexander being but clay, why might not time bring to passe, that he might stoppe the bousing hole of a beere barrel? Imperious Cæsar dead and turnd to clay, Might stoppe a hole, to keepe the winde away.

Enter King and Queene, Learst, and other lorde, with a Priest after the coffin.

Ham. What funerall's this that all the Court laments? It shews to be some noble parentage:
Stand by a while.

Lear. What ceremony else? say, what ceremony else?

Priest My Lord, we have done all that lies in vs, And more than well the church can tolerate, She hath had a Dirge sung for her maiden soule: And but for favoure of the king, and you, She had beene buried in the open fieldes, Where now she is allowed Christian burial.

Lear. So, I tell thee churlish Priest, a ministring Angell shall my sister be, when thou liest howling.

Ham. The faire Ophelia dead!

Queene Sweetes to the sweete, farewell: I had thought to adorne thy bridale bed, faire maide, And not to follow thee vnto thy graue.

Lear. Forbear the earth a while: sister farewell: Learst leapes into the graue.

Now powre your earth on, Olympus hie,
And make a hill to o're top olde Pellon: Hamlet leapes in after Learst

Whats he that coniures so?

Lear. The diuell take thy soule.

Ham. O thou praiest not well,
I prethee take thy hand from off my throate,
For there is something in me dangerous,

Which
Prince of Denmarke.

Which let thy wisedome feare, holde off thy hand:
I loude Ophelia as deere as twenty brothers could:
Shew me what thou wilt doe for her:
Wilt fight, wilt fast, wilt pray,
Wilt drinke vp vessels, eate a crocadile? Ile doot:
Com'st thou here to whine?
And where thou talk'st of burying thee a liue,
Here let vs stand: and let them throw on vs,
Whole hills of earth, till with the heighth therof,
Make Oosell as a Wart.

King. Forbeare Lear, now is hee mad, as is the sea,
Anone as milde and gentle as a Doue:
Therefore a while give his wilde humour scope.

Ham. What is the reason sir that you wrong mee thus?
I neuer gauie you cause: but stand away,
A Cat will meaw, a Dog will haue a day.

Exit Hamlet and Horatio.

Queene. Alas, it is his madnes makes him thus,
And not his heart, Lear.

King. My lord, t'is so: but wee'l no longer trifle,
This very day shall Hamlet drinke his last,
For presently we meane to send to him,
Therefore Lear be in readynes.

Lear. My lord, till then my soule will not bee quiet.

King. Come Gertred, wee'l haue Lear, and our sonne,
Made friends and Louers, as befittes them both,
Euen as they tender vs, and loue their countrie.

Queene God grant they may. execunt omnes.

Enter Hamlet and Horatio

Ham. beleue mee, it greeues mee much Horatio,
That to Lear I forgot my selfe:
For by my selfe me thinkes I feele his grieue,
Though there's a difference in each others wrong.

Enter a Bragart Gentleman.

Horatio, but marke yon water-fie,
The Court knowes him, but hee knowes not the Court.
The Tragedy of Hamlet

Gent. Now God saue thee, sweete prince Hamlet.
Ham. And you sir:foh, how the muske-cod smels!
Gent. I come with an embassage from his maiesty to you
Ham. I shall sir glie you attention:
By my troth me thinkes t'is very colde.
Gent. It is indeede very rawish colde.
Ham. T'is hot me thinkes.
Gent. Very swoltery hote:
The King, sweete Prince, hath layd a wager on your side,
Six Barbary horse, against six french rapiers,
With all their scoutrlements too,a the carriages:
In good faith they are very curiously wrought.
Ham. The carriages sir, I do not know what you mean.
Gent. The girdles, and hangers sir, and such like.
Ham. The worde had beene more cosin german to the phrase, if he could haue carried the canon by his side,
And howe's the wager? I vnderstand you now.
Gent. Mary sir, that yong Leartes in twelue venies
At Rapier and Dagger do not get three oddes of you,
And on your side the King hath laide,
And desires you to be in readinesse.
Ham. Very well, if the King dare venture his wager,
I dare venture my skull: when must this be?
Gent. My Lord, presently, the king and her maiesty,
With the rest of the best judgement in the Court,
Are comming downe into the outward pallace.
Ham. Goe tell his maiestie, I wil attend him.
Gent. I shall deliuer your most sweet answer. exit.
Ham. You may sir, none better, for y'are spiced,
Else he had a bad nose could not smell a foole.
Hor. He will disclose himselfe without inquirie.
Ham. Beleeue me Horatio, my hart is on the sodaine
Very sore, all here about.
Hor. My lord, forbear the challenge then.
Ham. No Horatio, not I, if danger be now,
Why then it is not to come, thers a predestiuate prouidence

in
Prince of Denmarke

in the fall of a sparrow: here comes the King.

Enter King, Queene, Learst, Lordes.

King Now sonne Hamlet, we hane laid upon your head,
And make no question but to haue the best.

Ham. Your maiestie hath laide a the weaker side.

King We doubt it not, deliver them the foiles.

Ham. First Learst, heere's my hand and loue,

Protesting that I never wrongd Learst.

If Hamlet in his madnesse did amisse,
That was not Hamlet, but his madnes did it,
And all the wrong I e're did to Learst,
I here proclaime was madnes, therefore lets be at peace,
And thinke I haue shot mine arrow o're the house,
And hurt my brother.

Lear. Sir I am satisfied in nature,
But in termes of honor I'll stand aloofe,
And will no reconcillement,
Till by some elder maisters of our time
I may be satisfied.

King Giue them the foyles.

Ham. I'll be your foyle Learst, these foyles,

Haue all a laught, come on sir: a hit.

Lear. No none.

Ham. Judgement.

Gent. A hit, a most palpable hit.

Lear. Well, come againe.

Ham. Another Judgement.

Lear. I, I grant, a tuch, a tuch.

King Here Hamlet, the king doth drinke a health to thee

Queene Here Hamlet, take my napkin, wipe thy face.

King Giue him the wine.

Ham. Set it by, I'll haue another bawl first,

I'll drinke alone.

Queene Here Hamlet, thy mother drinkes to thee.

Shee drinks.

King Do not drinke Gertred: O tis the poysned cup!

I 3

Ham.
The Tragedie of Hamlet

Ham. Learstes come, you dally with me,
I pray you passe with your most cunningst play.
Lear. I! say you so? haue at you,
Ile hit you now my Lord:
And yet it goes almost against my conscience.
Ham. Come on sir.

They catch one anothers Rapiers, and both are wounded,
Learstes falles downe, the Queene falles downe and dies.

King Looke to the Queene.
Queene O the drinke, the drinke, Hamlet, the drinke.
Ham. Treason, ho, keepe the gates.
Lords How ist my Lord Learstes?
Lear. Even as a coxcombe should,
Foolishly slaine with my owne weapon:
Hamlet, thou hast not in thee halfe an houre of life,
The fatall Instrument is in thy hand.
Unbated and invenomed: thy mother's poysned
That drinke was made for thee.
Ham. The poysned Instrument within my hand?
Then venome to thy venome, die damn'd villaine:
Come drinke, here lies thy venom here. The king dies.
Lear. O he is justly serv'd:
Hamlet, before I die, here take my hand,
And withall, my loue: I doe forgue thee. Learstes dies.
Ham. And I thee, O I am dead Horatio, fare thee well.
Hor. No, I am more an antike Roman,
Then a Dane, here is some poison left.
Ham. Vpon my loue I charge thee let it goe,
O fie Horatio, and if thou shouldst die,
What a scandal wast thou leaue behinde?
What tongue should tell the story of our deaths,
If not from thee? O my heart sinkest Horatio,
Mine eyes have lost their sight, my tongue his vse:
Farewel Horatio, heauen receive my soule. Ham. dies.
